DECISION OF THE RENT ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE
(RENT ACT 1977)

Reference: RAC/0031/10/14

Property: 74 Elm Street, Aberbargoed, Bargoed, CF81 9FD

Landlord: United Welsh Housing Association Ltd

Tenant: Mrs F Payne

Committee: D J Evans LLB LLM
R W Baynham FRICS

INTRODUCTION

1 We convened as a Rent Assessment Committee under the provisions of the Rent Act 1977 on the 15th December 2014. We had before us a reference from the Rent Officer in respect of 74 Elm Street, Aberbargoed, Bargoed, CF81 9FD (the Property). The Rent Officer had registered a fair rent of £81.50 per week on the 8th September 2014. The Landlord, United Welsh Housing Association Ltd, has objected to the Rent Officer's decision and the Rent Officer has referred the matter to us. The Landlord had applied for the rent to be increased to £93.59 per week.

2 Before considering the matter, we visited the Property. The Tenant, Mrs F Payne, attended and we were able to inspect both internally and externally. The Landlord did not attend.

INSPECTION

3 The Property is a three bedroom mid-terrace house located in a residential area known as Aberbargoed. It was constructed approximately 100 years ago as a cottage for mine workers and their families. The house was substantially renovated by the Landlord a short time ago. It has spa rendered, solid walls at the front and back, uPVC doors and windows and a tiled roof incorporating solar panels. There is double glazing and central heating throughout. The Tenant has provided the white goods and the floor coverings as well as the curtains. The Property has a rear north facing garden with a lane at the back. The houses in the immediate terrace are similar in style. There are some locally based facilities for shopping nearby as well as both Welsh and English primary schools with more shops and transport links a short distance away in Bargoed.

4 Downstairs, the Property has a through living room. The Tenant's deceased husband had originally created the through room using a beam from the colliery. The Landlord has now replaced this. The hearth and gas fire have been removed although we observed that the replacement skirting had not been well done. The Tenant's conservatory had also been removed. A sloping roof extension houses the kitchen, with units provided by the Landlord, and a bathroom from which is accessed a separate toilet. Upstairs, there are three bedrooms: a double bedroom at the front of the house, a smaller  $\frac{3}{4}$  size bedroom and a single bedroom with a slightly restricted headroom. On the landing there is a cupboard which houses the central heating and hot water boiler. The house is generally in good condition although the Tenant complained that it was draughty.

REPRESENTATIONS

5 The Landlord argues, in its representations of the 21st October 2014 that it is charging £85.21 per week elsewhere in the street for properties of a similar size. The Tenant made no representations.

CONSIDERATION

6 We are required to determine a fair rent in accordance with section 70 of the Rent Act 1977 (the Act) and the principles laid down in the case law. We are also required to ignore the personal circumstances of the parties.

MARKET RENT

7 Neither party has provided us with any comparables. We do not know the identity of the properties to which the Landlord refers in its representations. We must, therefore, rely upon our own knowledge and experience of the property market. The list of rentals provided by the Rent Officer, whilst not too specific, gives some indication as to the rental values of properties in the CF81 8 and CF81 9 post code areas. It is noticeable that the rents in CF81 8 are generally higher (£450 to £550 per calendar month) than those in CF81 9 (£375 to £425 per calendar month). From our inspection we were aware that there were some properties for rent in the private market in Elm Street with asking rents in the region of £400 per calendar month (£92.31 per week). The Rent Officer's figure is £99.23 per week. In our view, this is a little on the high side giving too much weight to the rents achieved in the CF81 8 post code area.

8 From our inspection, it was evident that properties in the nearby streets, some with better rear access and open views, would achieve higher rents than properties in Elm Street. However, we must take account of the fact that the Property is in good condition and would be an attractive rental proposition for those requiring a three bedroom house. In our view the market rent for the Property would be £95.00 per week on the basis that the Landlord had supplied the floor coverings and curtains as is generally expected in the market. We appreciate that the white goods have been provided by the Tenant, but in our experience, more properties are being let on the basis that the tenant provides and maintains his/her own cooker, washing machine and fridge. We have therefore made no reduction in respect of white goods. We do not consider that the draughts or the lack of quality of the remedial work after removal of the gas fire and hearth would affect the rental value

ADJUSTMENTS

9 The Tenant has provided the floor coverings as well as the curtains. We make an adjustment of £5 per week to account for this. We therefore determine that the adjusted market rent is £90.00 per week.

SCARCITY

10 We are required by the Act to take into account in assessing a fair rent for the Property whether there is an excess of demand over supply of accommodation such as this in the wider Rhymney valley area. We are satisfied on the basis of our own knowledge that there is a shortage of rented accommodation available at the present time. Although there are a few houses to let near the Property, in the wider area there is nonetheless a shortage with downsizing, affordability and mortgageability all applying pressure on the rental market. This is more so in the case of 2 bedroom houses than with 3 bedroom houses where rents locally are adjusting to reflect the market conditions. Social housing is still very much in demand no doubt aided by the fact that rents are generally lower than in the private sector. The Rent Officer has adjusted the market rent by 10% to take the scarcity into account. We agree with that figure. It recognises the fact that over the wider area there is a shortage of properties such as this for rent, but also that more locally there are some properties available with rents being lowered slightly to take into account the market conditions. Applying our own knowledge and experience, we are satisfied that there is still a fairly strong demand for properties of this type in the wider Rhymney Valley area. We therefore conclude that it is appropriate to reduce the adjusted market rent by 10% to take this scarcity into account.

11 Accordingly, we have deducted £9.00 per week from the adjusted market rent to reflect this, making our assessment of the fair rent for the Property £81.00 per week. This compares with the Rent Officer's assessment of £81.50 per week.

MAXIMUM FAIR RENT

12 We are required to consider whether the provisions of the Rent Acts (Maximum Fair Rent) Order 1999 apply. The existing rent, registered on the 16th July 2012, was £77.50. The Retail Prices Index (RPI) published for July 2012 was 242.1. The RPI published in November 2014 was 257.7. The relevant increase in the RPI was 15.6. The appropriate enhancement factor in accordance with the Order is 0.05. To calculate the maximum fair rent we apply the formula as set out in the Order as follows:

$$\text{Maximum Fair Rent} = £77.50 \times \left(1 + \frac{15.6}{242.1} + 0.05\right) = £86.37$$

We round this figure up to £86.50. However, as this is more than the fair rent that both we and the Rent Officer have determined, the Maximum Fair Rent provisions do not apply.

DECISION

13 As our assessment of the fair rent (£81.00 pw) is close to the Rent Officer's assessment of £81.50 per week, we confirm the Rent Officer's assessment of the fair rent for 74 Elm Street, Aberbargoed, Bargoed CF81 9FD as £81.50 per week.
